“There will be 4 levels of achievement across numeracy, reading, writing, spelling, grammar and punctuation: Exceeding, Strong, Developing and Needs additional support, so parents and carers can see at a glance if their child has met proficiency.

“A new NAPLAN measurement scale and time series are also being introduced.”

NAPLAN results provide important guidance to teachers, parents and carers. Research recently undertaken by ACARA found the top 3 ways respondents use results were as follows:

Principals/assistant principals:

- Monitor students' progress over time against the national measure.
- Set goals in literacy and numeracy.
- Target teaching in areas where students need more support.

Teachers:

- Target teaching in areas where students need more support.
- Set goals in literacy and numeracy.
